LANREV JOINS MICROSOFT SYSTEM CENTER ALLIANCE

Integration Delivers Leading Macintosh Management Solution for Microsoft System Center

Addison, TX – March 3, 2009 – LANrev, the leading provider of PC and Mac lifecycle management solutions today announced its membership in the Microsoft System Center Alliance. LANrev's client management solution ships with integration for both Microsoft Systems Management Server 2003 (SMS) and System Center Configuration Manager 2007.

LANrev's extensive functionality includes hardware and software inventory, software distribution, automated patch management, license monitoring and reconciliation, remote configuration, and power management.

"Microsoft understands that while customer IT environments often contain a variety of hardware and software, they desire a single solution for managing across their infrastructure to reduce costs and increase efficiency," said JD Marymee, Director of Strategic Partner Alliances, Management and Services Division. "LANrev's integration with Microsoft System Center Configuration Manager 2007 provides customers with extended capabilities so they can have a single, unified management experience across their Windows and alternate software and hardware environments."

"LANrev's membership in the Microsoft System Center Alliance reflects our continued commitment to help our customers broaden their systems management functionality, said Peter Frankl, Founder and COO, LANrev. "We are pleased to work with Microsoft to enable our mutual customers to reduce management costs while increasing efficiency.
